Annual Report on Form 20-F for Fiscal Year Ended December 31, 2023
Item 3D. Risk Factors
Summary of Risk Factors, page 5

1. In future filings, in your summary of risk factors, please disclose with greater specificity the significant regulatory, liquidity and enforcement risks that your corporate structure and being based in or having the majority of the company's operations in China poses to investors. In particular, describe:
Risks and uncertainties arising from the legal system in China, including that rules and regulations in China can change quickly with little advance notice; and
The risk that the Chinese government may intervene or influence your operations at any time, or may exert more control over offerings conducted overseas and/or foreign investment in China based issuers, which could result in a material change in your operations and/or the value of the securities you are registering for sale.
Acknowledge any risks that any actions by the Chinese government to exert more oversight and control over offerings that are conducted overseas and/or foreign investment in China-based issuers could significantly limit or completely hinder your ability to offer or continue to offer securities to investors and cause the value of such securities to significantly decline or be worthless.

Item 5. Operating and Financial Review and Prospects Research and development expenses, page 133

2. We note from the pipeline table on page 70 that you have three clinical stage drug product candidates, AN2025, AN0025 and AN4005. Please revise future filings to disclose the costs incurred during each period presented for each of your key research and development product candidates. If you do not track your research and development costs by project, disclose that fact and explain why you do not maintain and evaluate research and development costs by project. Also, revise to provide other quantitative and qualitative disclosures that give more transparency as to the type of research and development expenses incurred (i.e., by nature or type of expense) which should reconcile to total research and development expenses on your Item 18 of Form 20-F. Please tell us how this presentation is in accordance with Item 8.A.2 of Form 20-F and its related Instructions.

General

4. We note the changes made to your disclosure appearing in Item 3. Key Information and Item 3D. Risk Factor sections relating to legal and operational risks associated with operating in China and PRC regulations. It is unclear to us that there have been changes in the regulatory environment in the PRC since the prior review of your registration statement on Form F-1 that was declared effective by the SEC on September 28, 2023 warranting revised disclosure to mitigate the challenges you face and related disclosures.

The Sample Letters to China-Based Companies sought specific disclosure relating to the risk that the PRC government may intervene in or influence your operations at any time, or may exert control over operations of your business, which could result in a material change in your operations and/or the value of your securities. We remind you that, pursuant to federal securities rules, the term control (including the terms controlling, controlled by, and under common control with) as defined in Securities Act Rule 405 means the possession, direct or indirect, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person, whether through the ownership of voting securities, by contract, or otherwise.

The Sample Letters also sought specific disclosures relating to risks and uncertainties regarding the interpretation and enforcement of PRC rules and regulations, which can change quickly with little advance notice. We do not believe that your revised disclosure regarding the PRC government's "intent to strengthen its regulatory oversight" or efforts with respect to the "process of perfecting" the legal system adequately conveys the same risks. In future filings, please restore your disclosures in these areas to the disclosures as they existed your registration statement on Form F-1 declared effective on September 28, 2023. As examples, and without limitation, we note that your disclosure in your Annual Report on Form 20-F does not contain clear disclosure that (i) in recent statements, the Chinese government has indicated an intent to exert more oversight and control over offerings that are conducted overseas; (ii) the PRC government has significant oversight and discretion over the conduct of your business and may intervene in, exert control over, or influence your operations at any time with little or no advance notice, which could result in a material change in your operations and/or the value of your securities; and (iii) uncertainties in the PRC legal system with respect to the implementation and interpretation of rules and regulations, including the possibility of changes thereto with little advance notice, may create material risks to the company and its securityholders, including the risk of protracted legal proceedings and substantial related costs.

We remind you that the company and its management are responsible for the accuracy and adequacy of their disclosures, notwithstanding any review, comments, action or absence of action by the staff.
